

IBF WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS – HOSTING INFORMATION

Introduction

This document is intended for any International Bowling Federation (IBF) member federation, city, region, event organiser or commercial body that may be interested in bidding for IBF World Championships. Individual organisations must bid through their National Bowling Federation (NBF). No bids will be accepted without being submitted and supported by the NBF.

This document is for informational purposes only as is intended to give prospective hosts an understanding of the requirements to host an IBF event. It is in no way binding on the IBF.

IBF has several Championships, and these events are considered the most prestigious international events for athletes representing their countries.

1. IBF Events

Event	Proposed Dates
IBF World Championships (Teams of 6, Men and Women)	Nov odd year
IBF Seniors World Championships (Teams of 4, 50+ and 65+)	Mar/April odd year
IBF Youth World Championships (Under 21)	Jul/Aug even year
IBF World Cup (Teams of 4, Men and Women)	Nov even year
IBF Youth World Cup (Under 21) (1 representative, Men and Women)	Jul/Aug odd year
IBF Para Bowling World Championships	Mar/April even year

2. IBF and the IBF World Bowling Championships

The International Bowling Federation governs the sport of Tenpin Bowling throughout the world. There are 114 member federations worldwide and there are also five continental zones: African, Asian, European, Oceanic and Pan American Zones.

The IBF World Championships are conducted under the supervision of the International Bowling Federation. Through a bid process, the IBF will select the host to conduct the IBF events. Bidders are encouraged to develop proposals that can enhance the scope, presentation and marketing of the IBF events and the sport of Bowling.

Prospective hosts should keep in mind the following benefits in hosting an IBF event:

- The prestige of hosting an international event for athletes representing their country
- Benefits of consumer spending from additional visitors to the city
- Fantastic promotional opportunities for the city, region, country.
- Competition date flexibility to fit the host's schedule
- Total control over all local revenues generated from the event
- Opportunity to activate community outreach initiatives
- Close, mutually beneficial partnership with the IBF
- Partnership development assistance for IBF member federations and their government entities.

3. Competition Venues

The requirements for the competition venues are:

- The competition venues should be QubicaAMF centres.
- The minimum lane requirements, meeting IBF standards, for each event are listed below.
- Consideration may be given to venues that don't meet these requirements.

Event	Number of Lanes Required
IBF World Championships (Teams of 6, Men and Women)	Minimum 34
IBF Seniors World Championships (Teams of 4, 50+ and 65+)	Minimum 30
IBF Youth World Championships (Under 21)	Minimum 30
IBF World Cup (Teams of 4, Men and Women)	Minimum 30
IBF Youth World Cup (Under 21) (1 representative, Men and Women)	Minimum 20
IBF Para Bowling World Championships	Minimum 24

4. Dates and event schedule

To ensure that the host receives maximum benefit from organising an IBF event, IBF allows the host the possibility of flexibility in proposing the competition dates. While the proposed dates detailed above are the IBF's preferred competition period, it is possible for the events to take place at another time, provided it does not clash with any other IBF regional tournaments/championships and International Games.

The following table shows the typical event schedule for IBF events assuming the minimum lane requirements have been met.

Event	Est. # of Days Required
IBF World Championships (Teams of 6, Men and Women)	13 days
IBF Seniors World Championships (Teams of 4, 50+ and 65+)	10 days
IBF Youth World Championships (Under 21)	12 days
IBF World Cup (Teams of 4, Men and Women)	10 days
IBF Youth World Cup (Under 21) (1 representative, Men and Women)	8 days
IBF Para Bowling World Championships	10 days

The event schedule may be varied in consultation with the IBF should there be a larger competition venue.

5. Financial and Obligations

The host shall be required to pay IBF a hosting fee for each event as detailed in the following table:
